WRIGHT LORIMER SUICIDE; PUTS HEAD IN STOVE OVEN, TURNS ON GAS BY STRING

Musical Comedy Part.

"THE SHEPHERD KING"
WHO ENDED HIS LIE
BY INHALING GAS.

WRIGHT LORIMER

Wright Lorimer, an actor who he moved himself abused and neglected by the public and by William A. Brady, put his head into the oven of a gas range in the house in which he had lodgings, No. 122 West Sixty-fifth street, to-day.

Lorimer was hard up. He had been out of a part since Brady cancelled a contract with him in August. Recently he had departed so far from the ideas he had for himself as to ask for a part in a musical comedy, now being rehearsed. He felt himself fitted for deeply religious parts and he was best known as an actor by his production of "The Shepherd King," in which he himself had the role of David.

Two days ago Lorimer dismissed the man companion who had been living with him on the ground floor of the Sixty-fifth street house. He was seen about the halls of the house at 7 o'clock last night. At 10 o'clock there was a heavy odor of gas throughout the house and that next door, with which it is connected. The tenants complained and the landlady traced the smell to a disused kitchen adjoining Lorimer's rooms in the No. 122 side of the house.

MADE ELABORATE PREPARATIONS FOR DEATH.

The door, which was wedged with sheets and newspapers, was broken down. Lorimer's body was lying on the back with the head in the oven of the gas range. He had apparently turned on the gas jets in the room, then tied a string to the stopcock of the oven, put his head into it, pulled cushions and pillows about his neck and shoulders to keep out the air, and pulled the string.

Dr. Owens, who was called in a hurry from Flower Hospital, said that he had been dead only two or three hours.

Lorimer left three letters. One of them, just open, read as follows:

To All My Friends:

I would not have done this if there had been one ray of hope. My blood be on your head, William A. Brady. How different would have been my leaving if you had been even half a man! You will know what it is to suffer—and even at that word I am sorry for you. For I am full of suffering.

My love to all my friends and lots of love to Paul.
